D12 STRANGE OMENS

1	Every candle in the village gutters out at once, though there is no wind.
2	A white stag crosses the road and stops to stare at the party before vanishing.
3	The church bell rings by itself at midnight.
4	Birds fall silent for an hour; when they sing again, it is a song nobody recognises, and the oldest villager weeps to hear it.
5	Milk sours in every pail overnight.
6	A stranger arrives asking for a person who died here long ago, and describes them perfectly.
7	Frost forms in the shape of a hand on the inn's door.
8	The river runs backwards until dawn.
9	Every dog in town turns to face the north and will not be called away.
10	A child draws a map of a place she has never seen, and it is accurate.
11	Moths gather on the party's packs and cannot be shaken off.
12	The moon rises red, and the well water tastes of iron.
